This week at Paulet:

We have had fun and interactive assemblies about Shakespeare and how his innovative use of English links to the thought of the week – INNOVATION. From their reactions, students clearly enjoyed learning about Shakespeare's innovative use of insults!

On Tuesday, Year 9 had sessions delivered by SARAC (sexual abuse rape advice centre) about consent and 'no means no!' A very important session which the students found useful and empowering.

Last Friday our weekly 'lunch with...' careers talk was with a Staffordshire Police Inspector. 35 students came to listen to him and find out about his job. He was very impressed by the questions he was asked.

Also last Friday... a group of students visited the Tower of London on an Art trip. It was a long time on the coach but worth it to visit one of the most iconic buildings in our country.

Thank you to the parents / carers who signed into the TEAMS meeting this week on 'supporting my child with anxiety'. We hope it was useful; remember to contact the school if you need further support.

On Wednesday afternoon there our Year 7 and 8 Girls' football teams had a great time at a football tournament at Burton Albion. Brilliant effort from all the students, well done!
